

Czechowicz on the front page of Parkiet: Digitalization is an amazing opportunity for the development of our region.

06.03.2023

- Digitalization is the most important economic opportunity of the last 20 years and probably the next 20 years - says Tomasz Czechowicz in an interview for Parkiet. - It is spreading slowly in every part of the economy and life. It contributes to improving the efficiency of enterprises, accelerates globalization, creates new products and services. It is an amazing opportunity for the development of Central and Eastern Europe, especially in the context of what is happening beyond our eastern border - says the head of MCI.

- From the human side, of course, the ubiquitous digitalization creates some threats (however, they are fully manageable), but the balance of benefits definitely outweighs them.
