“We are especially grateful to Intel Capital and MCI for their unwavering support, particularly during the more challenging times that are inevitably part of any high-growth venture,” said Ondrej Fryc, CEO and Founder of Netretail.

Klaus Konrad, Investment Director of Intel Capital, commented: “During the period of our investment, Netretail’s management developed a strong operating team and implemented automated business processes and a state-of-the-art logistics centre. This has enabled the company to fully capture the dynamic growth of the online retail sector in the region.”

Sylwester Janik, Partner and Board Member of MCI said: “During the period of our investment, the company has executed a regional expansion plan through acquisitions. Netretail's success confirms the entrepreneurial and high-technology potential across the CEE region and the ability of local players to become market leaders.â"

Following the transaction, Netretail and MIH Allegro are entering into a long-term partnership to build the next phase of growth in e-commerce in the region. Hein Pretorius, CEO of MIH Allegro, commented: â"We are delighted to welcome Netretail, its management team and employees to the MIH Allegro group of companies and the Naspers family. We believe that this transaction brings together complementary expertise across e-commerce verticals and territories, which we look forward to integrating and further developing.
